"SHALL WE FORGIVE HER?"
Miss Marie Wainwright will appear at the opera house tonight, matinee tomorrow and tomorrow night, in "Shall We Forgive Her?" The play is described as a domestic drama of exceptional strength. The principal scenes are laid in England, although the story of the play begins in Australia. Perhaps the most important feature of the engagement in this city will be the appearance of Miss Marie Wainwright in the leading role. Miss Wainwright has for years been identified with the high class comedies. She has starred in them and has established herself pretty firmly throughout the country as an actress of ripe ability and rare intelligence. She is also an attractive woman. Her impersonation of the chief role in "Shall We Forgive Her?" is quite certain to be an admirable one. For whatever Miss Wainwright has done here before, she has done well. Her appearance, therefore, in the cast gives assurance of an artistic performance. There are few better emotional actresses in the country than Miss Wainwright. The story of the play is that of a young girl lured from her home in Australia by the pleadings of her boy lover, who, when they arrive in Australia, refuses to make her his wife. She finally plucks up courage enough to desert him and returns to England where she leads a blameless life. She meets a good man, falls in love and marries him, all without telling him of her past. When he does find out, through the scheming of a jealous housekeeper, he spurns her and a separation follows. The woman has friends who stand by her faithfully during her trouble and through whose instrumentality the husband is made to forgive his wife and once more take her to his home and happiness.

By special request Miss Wainwright will appear at the Thursday matinee in her own version of "East Lynne," appearing as Lady Isabel and Madame Vio.

DAY AMONG THE COURTS

Verdict for Defendant in Case of Lawlor vs. Keller.

DIVORCE CASE TRIED BEFORE JUDGE TOD

The Plaintiff's Petition Was Denied—Defendant's Previous Suit also Unsuccessful.

The jury in the case of James Lawlor against Theo. Keller, the hearing of which was commenced before Judge Wilson on Monday morning, brought in a verdict for the defendant yesterday afternoon. The plaintiff in this action sought to recover damages alleged to have resulted from the filing of a suit for debt against him by the defendant. The case was tried once before, at which time the jury was unable to agree on a verdict.

The attention of Judge Tod was occupied during the larger part of yesterday by the hearing of the proceedings in the divorce case of Estelle C. Meeker vs. C. M. Meeker. The case was one in which some features not usually met with were brought out and during the course of the trial some interesting testimony was given. Late yesterday evening the court entered an order refusing the petition of the plaintiff. The defendant brought suit for divorce in the fifty-fifth civil district court some time ago, but his appeal, too, was denied.

The county court was opened promptly at 9 o'clock every morning during the present week. The case of I. Gimbel vs. Albert Erickson was on trial before Judge Vasmer yesterday.

with the boys. After supper the frolic began in earnest, games of all kinds were indulged in, and the air was resonant with childish laughter and shouts of glee. During the evening Mrs. Willie Hutchison favored the boys with a reading from Uncle Remus and Master Moody Dawson gave some very pretty selections on his violin. Friday at 9 o'clock the boys sang the doxology, the benediction was pronounced and all dispersed, both old and young bearing away happy recollections of a most enjoyable evening.

Over the Phone.
The Houston telephone exchange is nothing if not enterprising. With a phone evidently near the speaker's desk in the house of representatives at Austin the Houston exchange yesterday gave The Post correspondence with Austin during the inaugural exercises at the capitol, by means of which the governor's inaugural address and the proceedings were heard almost as distinctly as though the listener were present in person. Last night in the same way The Post was favored with the music from the inaugural ball.

The soliciting committee of the steamer stock company resumed work this morning and will make a vigorous canvass of the city and county, after which a subsidiary committee will leave for Beville, Houston, Galveston and other places to complete the proposed capital stock of the company, which is to be $50,000. Another committee is expected to commence work in a day or two in behalf of the proposed fourth hotel.

Faces That Show Suffering.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Aug. 31.

I looked so bad I hated to see a mirror. The trouble was irregular menstruation and headache. I got worse from month to month. I felt good for nothing, and couldn't give proper attention to my house and children. I used a little Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught, and seem to be entirely cured. I look and feel better than I have for five years.

MRS. G. A. PHILLIPS

Wine of Cardui

All women—and men too—naturally wish to be attractive. Such a desire is not vanity. To be good looking is one of the real blessings and comforts of life. It is hard to imagine a sadder sight than a woman at a mirror who sees that her youthful charms have vanished. The eyes dull, the skin flabby and yellow, the cheeks sunken, the mouth drawn. What is there in the future for her if she can not be made to understand that her suffering is wholly unnecessary? Women ought to be thankful to know that Wine of Cardui is a safe and speedy cure for their ills. It will overcome and drive feelings will come back again if this remarkable vegetable Wine is taken according to directions. It seems strange that so many should continue to suffer when rescue is so close at hand.
